There is a long stretch of highway between the bigger cities of the Netherlands and Alkmaar, the stomping grounds of the full throttle rock n roll trio del-Toros. It is in the four on the floor, pedal to the metal sound, throw a lustful fist in the air, it's the head swinging style of rock n roll from del-Toros.

When you hear their sound you can imagine the inspiration hitting them as they open up along the highway, the boys returning from another blistering gig, somewhere else out there in the lowlands. The sonic surf riffs lead them west towards the North Sea, the thunder of garage rock stoner leads them north into the polder. The punk rock stink pushes them south towards the big cities. The free flowing good time moods drives the trio east into the openness of this land. del-Toros are the essence of all the elements of rock n roll boiled down to a thick energy laden benzine.

A fill up the tank and lets go Rock & Roll joyride. Stick out your thumb and hitch a seat along the highway.

del-Toros are going all sorts of places.
